The Fight Between the Navy and Army for the Control of the Board Beltered to Have Resulted in Pavor of the Army. WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. - The President to-day appointed Gen. W. F. Duffield a member of the Lighthouse Board, in place of Prof. Thomas C. Mendenhall. Gen. Duffield some time ago succeeded Prof. Mendenhall as Superintendent of the Coast and Geodetic Survey on the latter's resignation, but it was understood at that time that Prof. Mendenhall would continue his connection with the Lighthouse Board. In the case of an appointment like that of Gen. Duffield's it is usual for the President to specify whether the vacancy is made by resignation or removal, but it was impossible to learn at the White House whether Prof. Mendenhall had voluntarily resigned, the explanation being offered that it was customary for the Superintendent of the Coast Survey to be a member of the Lighthouse Board, and that Gen. Duffield's appointment was made simply under the provisions of section 4,053 of the Revised Statutes. The change, occurring just at this time, is exseedingly significant, and is believed to bear upon a subject that is exciting much specula-tion in the navy—that of the next duty of Admiral John G. Walker, who was recalled from Honolulu a few months ago by Secretary Herbert with the intention of placing him in charge of the Naval Academy, but which office he declined. There was much surprise when Admiral Walker declined to accept the place, and as he confided to no one his reasons for the refusal, the gossips have been attempting to find them out. Few, if any, have hit upon the real reason, which involves a question of great importance, not only to the navy, but to the army as well.

Admiral Walker is now championing the cause of the navy in antruggle with army officers to secure the control of the Lighthouse Board after the retirement of Admiral Greer as Chairman. Since its organization, with the exception of seven years, the Board has been invariably dominated by the navy, in recognition of the patent fact that mariners had more to do with lighthouses than landsmen. The exception was when Prof. Joseph Henry, then Secretary of the Smithsonian, was Chairman, from 1871 to 1878. The Chairmanship is filled by the members of the Board, and though the army has frequently made a determined effort to capture the office, the right of the navy to control the Board has never been successfully questioned, not even when Prof. Henry was chosen. The highest ranking officers in the navy have been invariably detailed to duty on the Board in order that they might outrank any of the army members. A Rear Admiral ranks with a Major-General of the army, and, as the highest rank of the engineer corps of the army, that of Brigadier-General, only equals that of Commodore in the navy recently, however, that Secretary Carlisle has been quoted as asying that he would not secure the ranking officers of the Board.

There has been a notance for the army to secure the ranking officers of the Board.

There has been no chance for the army correctly, however, that Secretary Carlisle has been quoted as asying that he would not again vote for a navaioficer as Chairman. This, taken in connection with the detail of Col. John M. miral John G. Walker, who was recalled from Honolulu a few months ago by Secretary Her-ard, has warned the havy or impending danrs to its interests.

f it is true that the army has captured the ard, it is impossible for Admiral Walker to come a member, as he could not serve with a airman whose rank was below his. Navai cers said to-day with considerable positivess that Col. Wilson had declined to be a candite for the Chairmanship of the Board, and d expressed the opinion that the navy ought continue in control.

ENO'S DISCHARGE REVOKED.

manded to the Custody of the Sheriff,

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.-The United States Supreme Court has reversed the decision of the Circuit Court for the Southern district of New York, discharging John C. Eno, formerly President of the Second National Bank of New York city, from the custody of the Sheriff of New York county. Eno was indicted by the Grand Jury for making false entries on the books of the bank in order to cover up misappropriation of its moneys. He applied to the Circuit Court of the United States for release from the custody of the Sheriff on a writ of habeas corpus, on the ground that the Federal Court alone had jurisdiction of the crime with which he was charged. The Circuit Court took the same view and ordered his discharge.

Justice Harlan, speaking for the court, said that Eno must first answer to the State courts, the crime charged against him being an offence the crime charged against him being an offence against the State of New York, as well as against the United States. When his case has been passed upon by the highest court of that State, then he may invoke the aid of the Federal court. The judgment of the Circuit Court, therefore, was overruled, with instructions to remand the petitioner to the custody of the Sheriff of New York. Justices Field and Shiras dissented from the opinion of the court.

The effect of the decision is that Ene must answer in the State courts to the indictments found against him for alleged crimes committed while acting as President of the Second National Bank bafore he can invoke the jurisdiction of the Federal courts in his behalf.

John C. Eno, having spent nearly nine years in Canada, surrendered himself to United States District Attorney Mitchell in February, 1803, on an indictment found against him by a Federal Grand Jury in 1884. He was admitted to bail in $20,000. He then appeared in the General Sessions and pleaded not gulfly to six indictments found by the Grand Jury of this county. On one indictment he gave $10,000 bail. His counsel contended that the other indictments did not come within the jurisdiction of the State courts. Judge Wallace of the United States Circuit Court granted a writ of habeas corpus, and on March 27 released Eno, declaring that the case belonged under Federal jurisdiction as related to the National Banking act. The indictment found by the United States Grand Jury was dismissed by Judge Benedict of the United States Circuit Court, on the ground that it was not sufficiently specific. Eno was reserved later and held in $30,000 on the same charge.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 .- The official report of the trial of the battle ship Maine reached the Navy Department to-day. It shows that the contractors have earned a premium of $22,429.60 by exceeding the required horse power. The weight of the machinery in the ship was found to be 889,35 tons, and its record of producing nearly twelve horse power per ton is considered a remarkable performance. The only fault found with the Maine is that her engine rooms are too hot, but this defect can be easily are too hot, but this defect can be easily remedied.

The torpedo boat Ericsson will be docked at New London in a day or two and have her hull polished for her contract speed trial, which is expected to occur about the end of this week. Official tests were made of her machinery by an engineer board on Saturday, and she is said to have performed admirably. There is no doubt that she will exceed her required speed of twenty-four knots.

AGAINST THE DISPENSEAY LAW

Mr. Olney Says It Is Inoperative When It WASHINGTON, Oct. 29,-Attorney-General Olney has decided adversely to Gov. Tillmen on the question raised between the United States and the State of South Carolina in the dispensary cases. The question decided by the Attorney-General was this: " If the officers of the State of South Carolina undertake to enter a United States bonded warehouse in South Carolina and to seize dis-tilled liquors therein under the Dispensary law of December, 1893, simultaneously tendering to the Collector of Internal Revenue any tax lawfully due on such liquors, is such action to be acquiesced in as not in conflict with the laws or rights of the United States?"

The Attorney-tieneral says:

rights of the United States?"

The Attorney-General says:

1. The legal status of distilled liquors in a bonded warehouse of the United States and under the control of the Collector of Internal Revenue is definitely stated and actited by section 934 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, which declares that "all property taken or detained by any officer or other person under authority of any revenue law of the United States shall be irrepleviable, and shall be deemed to be in the enstody of the law and subject only to the orders and decrees of the courts of the United States having jurisdiction thereof."

2. It need not be held, as has been singgested, and perhaps inight well be, that since the Tariff act of Aug. 79, 1944, the taxes due on distilled liquors in a United States is unided warehouse can be paid only by the distiller. Whether that be so or not, a tender of such taxes in a Sheriff or opinion, a tender of such taxes in the statute above quoted, since it is beyond the power of an internal revenue collector to accept it and thus nullify the provisions and defeat the policy of a statute which aims to absolutely exempt such liquors from the operation of the process of a State court, Such lender, which, for the reason stated, the collector is incompetent to accept, must be also ineffectual, because no officer of South Carolina has been given the right or power to make it—the legislation of South Carolina not authorizing any such tender nor providing any fund which can be issel for that purpose.

The result is that the provisions of the South Carolina has been given the right or power to make it—the legislation of South Carolina has been given the right or power to make it—the legislation of South Carolina has been given the right or power to make it—the legislation of South Carolina has been given the right or power to make it—the legislation of South Carolina has been given the right or power to make it—the legislation of South Carolina has been given the right or power to make it—the legislation o

Sound Carollia not authorizing any such tender nor providing any fund which can be used for that pur-pose. The result is that the provisions of the South Caro-llya Dispensary inw of 1893 must be regarded as in-effective and inoperative as against distilled fujuor-heid in a United States bonded warehouse under the control of the Collector of Internal Ecerence.
